

[Slack] UCD MSC PROJ updates for the week of August 3rd, 2015

From: Slack <feedback@slack.com>
To: neil.grogan@ucdconnect.ie
Subject: [Slack] UCD MSC PROJ updates for the week of August 3rd, 2015
Date: Monday, 10 August 2015 8:01 AM
Size: 23 KB

UCD MSC PROJ's Weekly Summary

Monday, August 3rd - Sunday, August 9th

Hope you had a good weekend! Here's a summary of what happened on your team last week:

Your team sent a total of 1,103 messages last week (that's 343 more than the week before). Of those, 20% were in channels and 80% were direct messages. Your team also uploaded 19 files (that's 6 more than the week before).

Looking for more stats? Check out your team's stats page.

Happy Monday! Last week you sent 304 messages, received DMs from 4 different people, and uploaded 8 files. Good work.

Your team has 2 owners: Garry Davitt and Neil Grogan (primary owner). Your team has 3 admins: Igor Berdnikov, Kevin Kennedy, and Larry. In total there are 5 people on your team.

Remember: it's important to keep the list of owners and admins up to date since they control your team's settings.

Your team is on Slack's Free Plan, which is free for unlimited users for an unlimited time. Interested in unlimited archive access and integrations, single sign-on, custom data retention, and more? Check out our paid plans to learn all about it.

Want to get the most out of Slack? Here's a tip:

Want to keep your general channel for announcements and super-important need-to-know information only? Owners and Admins can determine who posts in General.

The screenshot shows the Slack channel settings interface. At the top, there are three tabs: 'Settings', 'Permissions', and 'Attachments'. The 'Permissions' tab is selected. Below the tabs, the section 'Messaging Restrictions' is visible, with the text 'Set who can use @everyone and @channel, and who can post to yo'. Below this, there is a section titled 'Who can post to your #general channel'. A dropdown menu is open, showing 'Team owners' as the selected option, with a downward arrow on the right.

This email is sent to team owners and admins of active teams. If you'd prefer not to receive these emails, you can unsubscribe here.

Made by Slack Technologies, Inc • Our Blog
155 5th Street, 6th Floor • San Francisco, CA • 94103